

Credly Badges for O3 Users

O3 now offers official digital credentialing through Credly, the global leader in verified digital badges. This program rewards users for completing key learning milestones in the O3 platform and supports our clients' broader goals around workforce development, change management, and digital transformation.

Why This Matters to You

Accelerate Platform Adoption

Badges give your teams a clear path to proficiency. As users complete training and earn credentials, you gain confidence that your workforce is prepared to drive value with O3, quickly and consistently.

Recognize & Motivate Your Teams

People love recognition. Digital badges celebrate individual achievements while incentivizing continued learning and engagement. This is especially impactful during major process changes, like implementing new delivery methodologies or transitioning to a digital project execution platform.

Build a Culture of Excellence

A formal badging program signals that your organization is serious about upskilling, innovation, and continuous improvement. It creates internal champions and encourages knowledge sharing — key drivers for sustained success.

Powered by Credly

Credly is trusted by leading companies and institutions worldwide, from Cisco to AWS to the U.S. Department of Defense. O3's digital badges are built on the same gold-standard platform, ensuring your team's skills are recognized anywhere. Ask your O3 Account Executive how to activate badging for your team.

Gain External Credibility

Credly badges are verifiable, shareable credentials that employees can add to LinkedIn or email signatures. They demonstrate your organization's investment in best-in-class project delivery — and position you as a forward-thinking industry leader.

Track Progress & Benchmark Readiness

O3's badging platform gives you visibility into who has completed training, helping project leaders assess readiness, identify power users, and strategically assign roles on projects.

WHAT OUR CLIENTS ARE SAYING:

"Thank you so much for the recognition and for issuing the O3 Super User Badge, I truly appreciate it. [O3] was a key tool in ensuring successful execution and planning, so receiving this badge means a lot."
